

digit 5 of the right forepaw. There is discoloration of all the claws. There is an umbilical hernia present which is reducible. The age is difficult to determine with any level of confidence. We chose 5 years but it could be more or less. I would recommend entropion and hernia repair and monitoring the knees. Glucosamine/chondroitin (Cosamine ASU) is recommended.

Thank you,

Doctor's Instructions

LEFT PATELLA LUXATION GRADE I OF IV

The patella can be luxated, but spontaneous luxation of the patella during normal joint motion rarely occurs. Manual luxation of the patella may be accomplished during the physical examination, but the patella reduces when pressure is released. Flexion and extension of the joint are normal.

Instructions for Buttercup

Continue doxycycline at 100 mg every twelve hours. This medication must be followed by food and or water to ensure entry into the stomach. There is a corneal scar in the right eye, likely from entropion which is present in both eyes. There is a furuncle present on
